Description

OnFit is an application that manages the quantity of nutrients to be ingested, foods to be added to each meal, and the amount of water ingested by the user. The application also has optional preset notifications for meal times and for water intake times. The meal management consists of adding food to each meal and the benefit of viewing foods from previous days. The user adds the quantity of water intake throughout the day and is also able to re-view this amount from previous days. One of OnFit's characteristics is being able to control the mealtimes, and having the option to clear the data from all meals at any time. When deleting your data, you are aware that you will lose all data from that meal. OnFit allows users to share meal data externally. The sharing of information is fully and completely the responsibility of the user. OnFit will not share your meal data on any social network or on any other external channels without the user's prior consent to it. External channels and networks are understood as social networks, networks sites, and private or public network chat rooms.
